There was to declare that, as defendants had shown uo follows a power of sale without reference to the little to Inland Lots 718 and 720, the appeliants Bussell & Co. Shanghai, 31st March, 1884. I have experienced great difficulty in arriving the sum of 258,000 table. The evidence of Mr. W. 11. Forbos is too indistinct to make any conclusion certain, but perhaps the interpretation which most nearly reconciles the evidence as a whole is that adopted by the Court below when it found that the 258,000 tacks represented trust money to the extent of 157,000 tacks and "en old debt of 101.000 task. The evidence. however, at least discloses that this sum 258,000 tacks was a past debt. The state things, then, is this -that on the 31st March, 1884. B promissory note for an existing debt was made by Russell and Co. to J. M. Forben as trustee for Howqua and that by an instrument purporting to be of even date, collateral security for the payment of this promissory note was given. On the face of it, therefore, there is nothing auspicious in the transaction. But it has i been urged against the promissory note that the consideration was past and falsely stated to be 258,000 tasks instead of 157,000 tasks. The answer to the first objection, is that even a preexisting debt is a good and valuable consideration; the snawer to the second objection formished by reviewing the then and ast relations between Hussell and Co., Howqua, and J. M. Forbes as set forth in W. H. Forbes evidence. The explanation seems to be that debt of 101,000 taels was due to Howqua personally and a debt of 153,000 tasks was due to the trustee of Howana, and that when security was taken by the trustee, there was added the trust money the personal debt and the two amounts were lumped together in a promis sory note, which could not have been made t J. M. Ferbes except as in his capacity of trustee. i shall here interpolate an account of that which ment of the 31st March, 1884, was not executed. I consider to be the relation between the sobona fide. In the result, this appeal stands called letter of hypothecation, the deed of trust, dismissed with costs. ... and the declaration of trust. The first instrument relates to a sum of 258,000 taels (which has already been remarked ou) and is between Bussell and Co, and Howqua's trustee; the second instrument relates interalia to a sum of 157.000 tuels invested with Russell and Co., is between Howqua and his trustee, and, naturally, as between such parties, only refers to the trust moneys lent out; the third isstrument was, so far as can be gathered, executed by the attorney of Howqua's trustee, who, being in possession of the letter of hypothecation which on the face of it made the trust moneye advacced appear to be for breach of contract in connection with an 258,000 tacks, declared a trust for the sum of alleged short delivery of 41 picals of camphor. 258,000 tacks. If the matter is looked at in A cross action was brought by the Him Kee this way, there is at once provided a reasonable firm, claiming $696.17 balance of the price of explanation of the numerical variances, goods sold and delivered. The contract dated To the letter of hypothecation itself certain and May, 1895, was in Chinese, of which the objections distinct from the usual badges of frond were raised, such as the incompleteness of the document by the omission of the schedule broker, 200 boxes Formosa Campbor at $55 per and its consequent invalidity as a security.
